DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 1-24, drawn to a product.

Group II, claim(s) 26, drawn to a method of cleansing skin and/or hair.

2. The inventions listed as Groups I and II do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The common technical feature in all groups is a product comprising an applicator where to a wax phase has been applied, said wax phase comprising a wax component selected from the group consisting of dialkyl(ene) ethers, dialkyl(ene) carbonates, dicarboxylic acids, hydroxyl fatty alcohols and mixtures thereof. This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT Rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art. Kasai et al., US 2002/0022812, discloses a glove or pad to which has been adhered an anti-frictional agent such as distearyl ether (see paragraphs 104, 74, and 70).

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Art Unit: 1611

The products of claim 1, wherein there is a plurality of elements disclosed for the claimed product. Accordingly, Applicants are required to elect a single disclosed combination of elements for the product, selected from the list below:

- A) the wax component in the wax phase (claims 1-24 and 26);
- B) the mono-, di-, or triglycerides in the wax phase (4-8);
- C) the fatty alcohols in the wax phase (claim 9-11);
- D) the fatty acids in the wax phase (claims 12-14);
- E) the at least one active ingredient (claims 15-18);
- F) the at least one oil (claims 15 and 16);
- G) the at least one emulsifier (claims 15 and 16);
- H) the further waxy components (claims 15 and 16); and
- I) the additional components as described in claims 19 and 20.

For element A), Applicants are further required to elect a single exact choice for the wax component in the wax phase; representative examples are listed in claim 1.

If element E) is present, Applicants are further required to elect a single exact choice for the active substance; representative examples are listed in claim 18.

If element I) is present, Applicants are further required to elect a single exact choice for the additional component; representative examples are listed in claims 19 and 20.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

4. The following claim(s) are generic: claim 1.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The common technical feature in all groups is a product comprising an applicator whereto a wax phase has been applied, said wax phase comprising a wax component selected from the group consisting of dialkyl(ene) ethers, dialkyl(ene) carbonates, dicarboxylic acids, hydroxyl fatty alcohols and mixtures thereof. This element cannot be a special technical feature under PCT Rule 13.2 because the element is shown in the prior art. Kasai et al., US 2002/0022812, discloses a glove or pad to which has been adhered an anti-frictional agent such as distearyl ether (see paragraphs 104, 74, and 70).

The expression "special technical feature" is defined in PCT Rule 13.2 as meaning those technical features that define a contribution which each of the inventions, considered as a whole, makes over the prior art. The determination is made on the contents of the claims as interpreted in light of the description and drawings (if any). Whether or not any particular technical feature makes a "contribution" over the prior art and therefore constitutes a "special technical feature," should be considered with respect to novelty and inventive step.

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement may be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To preserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

8. The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

Art Unit: 1611

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained. Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.
